

Technology Integration Coaching

Brainstorming Session Do you have an idea you'd like to talk through, or do you need someone to bounce ideas off of regarding the use of technology in your class? I am here for that! Unleash and explore your creative ideas from different angles, using a variety of custom strategies.	Curriculum Planning Let's plan together! What would you like to modify, adjust, or elevate in your curriculum? Technology is a tool for teaching and learning, so how can we utilize it to achieve those goals? During an individual or team curriculum planning meeting, we can see what we can do to make this happen!	Classroom Guest Do you need a visitor in your room to see the neat things that are happening? Is it easier to show rather than tell? Feel free to invite me in—I'd love to see what you and your students are doing! I can be a fly on the wall or an active participant - you choose!
Technology Support Being tech-savvy comes with the territory! Do you need help with an app or device? Are you stressed out from trying to troubleshoot? I can assist in any way that I am able—either with you, or with your students! The Tech Support team are the real experts, but I can help troubleshoot on an intermediate level.	Co-teaching I would love to come in and teach a lesson alongside you! I can be involved in any way that you'd like- from taking the lead when introducing something new related to technology, to just being involved in the planning process, to true team teaching, to just being on hand for questions- and everything in between.	Global Connection Are you interested in how others in your field are utilizing technological devices and strategies? We are truly a global hive mind in education and technology, so let me help you explore best practices and avoid "reinventing the wheel" in your instruction.
Professional Development Do you need some targeted professional development on an integration strategy, technology curricular topic, device, or app? Let me know and I can definitely plan a time for us to learn together! I am flexible with time, format, and deliverables and can cater to your needs.	Resource Evaluation & Curation Nowadays, there are so many different apps, platforms, websites, and widgets for use in education, and it can be daunting trying to find something to support your teaching and learning. Let me help lighten the load by sharing what I know and/or helping you aggregate and evaluate resources.	Reflection Session Reflection is an important part of the design process. Feedback from our students and colleagues helps us reflect on what we did and gives us the opportunity to monitor and adjust. And, we know that technology can add huge variables to our instructional practice! I'd love to have a reflection session with you to discuss this feedback and plan for the future.
